Jared Horman is a local artist, illustrator and muralist. He attended Missouri State University where he studied graphic design. He’s works professionally as a graphic designer in the non-profit sector focusing on branding and editorial projects. With a strong influence from his graphic design background, his work focuses on reimaging and reinterpretation of the natural world around us.

His murals can be seen all across the metro area including locations in the West Bottoms, Whisky Company, Parlor, and The HillsKC.

Camille Sumrall, owner of Florativity, is a Kansas City based artist and florist with over 10 years training in fine art and 5 years of experience in floral art. Her training in various art mediums is shown through the use of color, composition, and texture in her flower arrangements. Trying to create beautiful floral art sustainably, Camille has a vase and supply recycling program. She is inspired to make the world more beautiful one flower at a time!

Phoebe Rain is an artist, entrepreneur, and activist. Her works focus on creating visual identities, breaking/challenging stigmas, and aiding in environmental health. She has been producing and participating in public and professional work from the age of 17. Phoebe participated in Orpheus Affair 2019, collaborating with Jared Horman to create an exciting art deco-themed installation.

Seth Jones is a full time visual artist and performer, born and raised in Kansas City. He is thrilled and honored to be creating a ridiculously large dress (again) for Orpheus Affair! His experience in professional acting and theatre majorly influences his work. He lives and creates in his dreamy Victorian home in the Historic Northeast neighborhood of KC.
